stricken as it Prepares

THIRTY-FOUR ESCAPE AFTER THE EXPLOSION

Blown-out Shot or Spark from Trip Car is Held Responsible

KEMMERER, Wyo.—By The Associated Press.—At 2 o'clock this morning 91 bodies had been recovered from mine No. 1 of the Kemmerer coal company, whose workings were partially wrecked by an explosion Tuesday. At that hour the work of bringing out the dead was continuing.
The statement of mine officials was that 134 men were in the mine when an explosion, the cause of which has not been determined definitely, occurred. Thirty-four men escaped out alive. These unaccounted for are believed to have perished.

Towns Grief-Stricken

In the grip of sorrow and desolation, Kemmerer and the little coal camp suburb Frontier, are busy attempting to bring about the task of preparing for the dead.

Throughout the hours of darkness,
as lights shed a pallid illumination over a weeping, grief-stricken throng at the portal of the mine, rescue workers brought forth the blast-victim bodies of the victims.

The first intimation of the disaster was a long tongue of smoke which shot from the fans used to venilate the mine.

The exact cause of the blast remained a mystery although officials of the Kemmerer coal company, in a statement issued late Tuesday, declared a blown-out shot was responsible for the detonation. Another theory is that a careening trip car jumping from the track on the 1,700 foot level, where the explosion occurred, had caused a spark which ignited
a cloud of dust or gas.

34 Escape

Thirty-four of the 134 miners who were employed by the blast have escaped from the mine alive. Of these, one lies at a hospital here in a serious condition as a result of the inhalation of smoke and gas fumes. It is believed he will recover.

Nineteen bodies had been recovered Wednesday morning from the depths of the Frontier mine, according to an announcement by J. B. Quenly, vice president and general manager of the Kemmerer coal company, owner of the mine.

Work was resumed Wednesday morning to recover the other bodies, believed to number nine.

Were 134 in Mine

The vice president's announcement was issued today after a check-up of the number of men at work. The recovered figures showed definitely that 134 men were in the mine. It was announced.

No official statement has been issued by the company as to the reason for the disaster.

Rescue crews worked throughout the night in their efforts to reach the other bodies and will not relax until all have been recovered, officials said.

AGED FARMER PAYS FOR LOVE AFFAIR WITH YOUNG GIRL

Arrested in Madison After She Confesses, He May Face Trial Again

MADISON, Wis.—John Johns, 65, wealthy Cuba City land owner and stock buyer, left his youthful love in Madison Tuesday afternoon and returned to his home.

He was released after pleading guilty to a statutory offense and paying $1,000 fine.

The love affair of the aged farmer and Miss Hazel Smale, Madison, came to light following an investigation by the Volunteers of America and the girl's father, Miss Smale is 23. Johns is married and has grown-up sons and daughters.

He met Miss Smale on one of his visits to Madison and it is claimed found occasion to visit her frequently since. He did not meet her at her home.

The girl became ill and Captain Morgan Griffiths of the Volunteers of America was appealed to by the girl's parents. The case was put in the hands of Detective Jesse Smith and Johns was arrested at his home in Cuba City. The girl had disclosed her relations with her aged sweetheart.

Johns admitted his guilt and was fined. In questioning the girl Phil Sandern, assistant district attorney, received additional information that has led him to the decision to carry the case further.

A John Doe hearing will be held in superior court today which may lead to the arrest of a Madison physician.

BULL ATTACKS FARMER

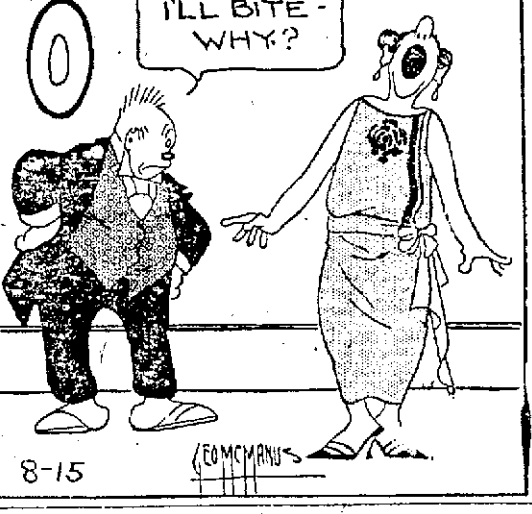

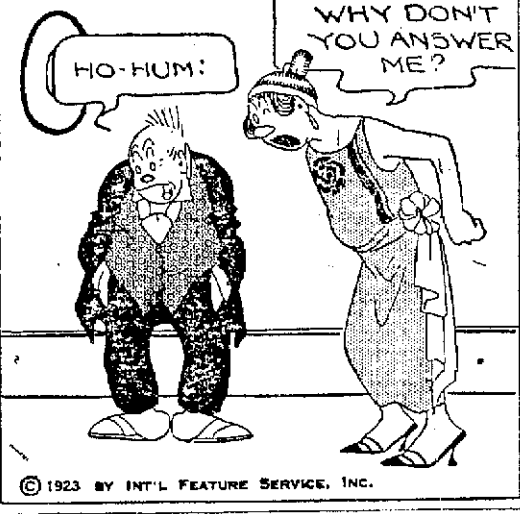

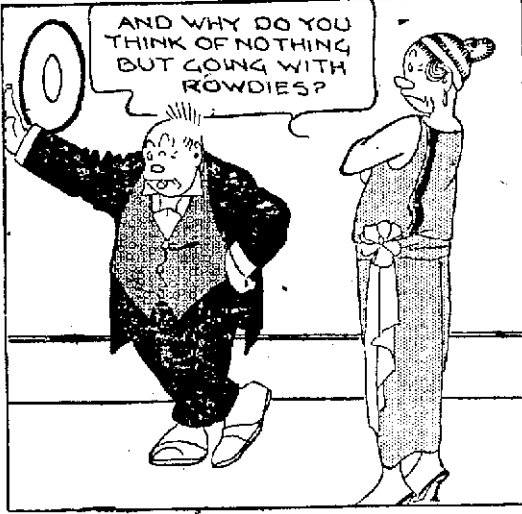

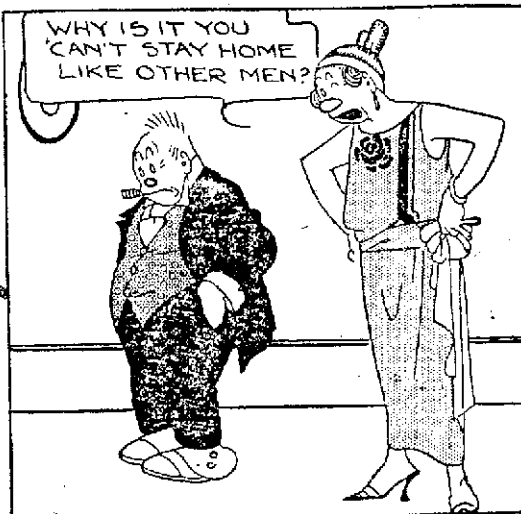

MARSHFIELD, Wis.—John Peters, a farmer, was attacked in his barn by a brown Swiss bull and took refuge behind a large post. Suggestion for Reducing High Prices

The Pend Oreille Grange, Newport, Wash., offers an excellent suggestion for keeping down prices to consumers: namely, mark in plain sight on each article, package or quantity of goods, on the bill accompanying them, the farm, mine or factory price of the article or of its principal ingredients.

These Newport farmers would have the dealer's price fixed at a percentage above the farm, mine or factory price, and would allow no commission to unnecessary brokers or middlemen who intrude their services between producer and consumer.

Do You, or Not?

OF all the machines he uses, man takes the least care of his only really valuable machine—his body. Give the average man a $5,000 auto and he'd polish and oil and pet and generally guard its welfare as if he had been entrusted with the destiny of the nation. An even better illustration is the case of the radio bug who works overtime to keep his receiving outfit in good shape. No amount of effort is too great for the care of a bit of mechanism we admire and in which we take pride. Compare all this with the care we devote to the more valuable and fragile machine, the human body.

Take the case of the stomach. Many a man who wouldn't think of overloading his motor-car or putting too much current on the filament of his radio tubes, does not hesitate to gulp food without proper chewing, thus throwing on his stomach a strain that would wreck the average piece of machinery. The auto driver respects his car enough not to make a practice of overspeeding his engine. How much thought does he ever give to the matter of overexerting that extremely delicate engine, his heart?

If we took half as good care of our bodies as we do of our autos, radios, watches and the like, most of us wouldn't have to worry much about our health. We usually are neglectful of ourselves to the point of meanness. You have this evidenced when a radio fan parts with $20 or more for new tubes without feeling any internal ache, but almost has a stroke at a similar bill from dentist or doctor.

There is no better investment than self—that is, spending our money to keep the body running smoothly, as it deserves, and also spending to extend our knowledge and experience. Man when he lived close to nature didn't have to worry a lot about his health. Nature and hard work kept him in good shape. As civilization takes us increasingly farther away from the natural way of living, our bodies function less automatically and require assistance and watching like any other kind of machinery. The neglected machine wears out prematurely.

Precipitant

THE semi-official, inspired attitude of the Parisian press is one of indignation against Great Britain because in her latest—and sharpest—note on reparations she announces her intention to hold France responsible for all that France owes her up to the amount she has to pay the United States, minus whatever she is able to collect from Germany. The French profess anger because this amounts to saying that the less France collects from the defeated enemy, the more she will have to pay England.

The British position is that a good deal which could have been collected from Germany is already gone forever because of the French seizure of German productive resources in the Ruhr, and that the longer France holds on to these the less can be collected. The British idea is to make Germany pay as much as possible. Baldwin said in his note, but it cannot see any reason for holding the bag for France while she exploits a mainly political policy in the Ruhr at the expense of the hopes of the rest of the allies for reparations.

To the man in the street French anger is hardly justified at a proposal which even at the worst should mean a partial reduction of a debt which England is legally entitled to collect to the full. Britain has shouldered the whole load of her war debt, though it involves crushing taxation on her taxpayers. From a purely financial standpoint it was generous to offer to let France off of even a portion of her debt, and so long as it is French policy which is controlling how much of the money due may be collected from Germany, it is really up to France in a large measure as to how much of her debt to Britain she will escape.

It is now accepted, observers believe, that French occupation of the Ruhr is a poor investment financially for France. All reparations payments have stopped, except what French troops can seize in the occupied territory. Of course, if France is pursuing a political rather than a financial purpose in the occupation, she may still consider the seizure worth the price. But in effect, since the British note, she is now forced to choose between political and financial advantages. Baldwin's note is an effort to clarify the issues, and clear up the confusion which has shrouded French policy. If it is politics that seems most important, the British note says in effect, France must pay for the free hand she has assumed. If it is reparations she is after, to stabilize French finances, then the political scheme of aggrandizement must be subordinated.

No observer of world affairs will expect France to accept the British ultimatum and change her policy. But this much good may be expected—the French aims may be made clear and definite, despite every effort to escape frank statement. Baldwin has chosen his ground pretty well, and Poincare can hardly continue to evade a show-down. Once the world knows exactly what France wants, it will have a better chance of deciding upon its own future course.

Mirror

A MIRROR, hung where he could see himself in it frequently, would be an excellent investment for almost every business man, suggests Raymond M. Havens. He's a prominent official in the Rotary Club organization internationally.

There's an old saying about living so you can look any man in the eye. It's harder to look ourselves in the eye, using a mirror, when inclined to do anything that conscience protests against. Ernest Haeckel, German biologist, had even a better system in youth. He wrote letters to himself, urging certain corrections of conduct, and debating controversies.

Windmills

THE chief source of power 400 years from now will be windmills generating electricity. This is the prediction of J. B. S. Haldane, the English scientist.

Why wait 400 years? A man in Cleveland has rigged up a windmill that operates a dynamo and, in connection with storage batteries, supplies all the electricity needed for lighting his house. It rarely occurs to anyone that a windmill can do anything more than pump water or operate a grist mill in Holland.

A Wedding Gift

BY MARTHA MCCULLOCH-WILLIAMS

"Oh, de Shanghai chicken he flewed so high. Couldn't git er quarter 'tween his back an' de sky! (Co'se why? Didn't hab de quarter!)"

This is the lay caroled by Thomas McBean Grady as he leaped the party wall separating his home domain from that of the Elmores. He was in a way a child of the house there—the Elmores being childless, yet avidly fond of youth. It was the youth irrepressible of Thomas McBean that had made captives of them in his very first day at Elmhurst. With all the nice college slang and songs and things, said Madame Elmore, he was just the sort she had hoped and dreamed Little Gustavus might be. At that she had sighed tenderly, her husband the while looking far above her head.

Little Gustavus, the child of their hopeful fancy who had never existed, was real to both as though they had nurtured him to manhood.

"Sing on, Tommy. I like that Shanghai chicken, madame, treated after a quick look behind her. 'And then sing something Irish. You must-hurry today.' 'She shan't be—bless her heart!' Thomas McBean half-chanted, dropping the ghost of a kiss upon her still-smooth brow. But instantly he started upright. Stopping, he had seen, in the window behind, a girl's face of merry mischief, laughing of eye, with a mirthful, small mouth and the dearest of all things. He looked reproachfully down at madame, saying loftily: 'So you've broken sanctuary. Here at least I felt safe from snares and pitfalls, all the hidden perils that lurk in the path of innocent youth.' 'Oh, pshaw! Why don't you turn, peeping Tom? I wanted 'Vieve to hear you before you saw her—so she'd know the love you're so good at singing had nothing personal about it.' 'How do you know?' Thomas McBean demanded. 'Who gave you leave to think, to say, 'I'm not the victim of hopeless passion?' 'I did! Me, myself!' Mr. Elmore called from within. Then, advancing through the door: 'It stands to reason a boy with so much love in his throat can't have any left in his heart.' 'Got these behind me, Pap Elmore?' Thomas McBean intoned. Madame chuckled, calling over her shoulder: 'Come out, 'Vieve! Tommy is a gentle fanatic, warranted harmless.' 'That is, if not crossed,' Thomas McBean supplemented, striding toward 'Vieve, taking both her hands and starting down into her eyes a long, steady minute. Dropping the hands, he murmured as though to himself: 'The substance of my dream! Say, oh say, where do you come from?'

'Ah, ha! I knew she'd take your breath!' Madame Elmore cried in delight. 'Where she comes from doesn't matter; nor her name, nor anything except that she is here.' 'I will not be a mystery!' 'Vieve cried. 'I am very material; an everyday, workaday working girl; a little reduced in circumstances to be sure, but ready and willing to prove my worth as a maid. Which these good people won't let me be, no more than they will let me be Sarah Lou Kelley. Here I am Genevieve DeForest, for life or good behavior. Don't you tell anybody else. I tell you only because I know you're in the family.'

'Does it happen that you know New Orleans?' Thomas McBean asked. 'The girl nodded. 'I was born there,' she said. 'I wish I had grown up in a world, so quietly beautiful.' 'You see, we took her back to a convent school there after we found her,' Mme. Elmore explained. 'That is how you have not seen her head of her. We wanted you to two to meet wholly without prejudice.' 'I am the soul of unprejudice,' Thomas McBean commented. 'But your people! Oh, they simply bristle with them. Think of them spending so much money to trace descent from Irish kings and finding themselves checked by law with the prettiest girl in the world who hasn't a single ancestor.'

'What a lovely job they would have!' Thomas McBean ejaculated. 'Mr. Elmore broke in seriously: 'Nothing wrong about our girl, Tommy—her father was lost at sea in a great storm coming over, her mother died when she was born—so the good sisters took care of her. She was adopted before she could walk by wealthy people, who gave her their name and no doubt loved her dearly. They were killed in an auto wreck before they had made more than the scantiest provisions for our girl. Then coming fourteen she went in a shop—cash girl. It was there we found and rescued her. We told nobody—changed her name, but made her our legal heir after a year. Now we shall show her to our world as a young relative. It will doubtless accept her for what she is—but we wanted you to know the whole truth.'

'Thank you both more than words can say,' Thomas McBean replied, not taking his eyes from 'Vieve's face. 'I hope I am worthy your trust. I shall try to be worthier hereafter.'

OUT OUR WAY

back in the year 1000, and on the way downward, got itself so plated with armor, and enriched with newer royal crosses, it was an awe-some thing. Thomas McBean, sole son of the house, needs must match with a person of descent, said his elders—though he might not hope to find one matching his own! 'Vieve was, they admitted, utterly lovely, utterly delightful—but they had the future to consider—with so many millions to prop and shield it, that family pride must flourish as though it were a green bay.

Truth would be fatal—but how evade telling it? Mr. Elmore was in despair when his wife took the helm—oddly enough by asking down for a week-end a venerable bachelor friend whose hobby was genealogy. A fortnight later he wrote a letter that ought to have won him an ambassador's post—in effect it ran that 'Vieve's beauty had so impressed him he had ventured to look up her family history—and research had confirmed his suspicion that she was nearly related to the highest aristocracy, English and Irish, and notably the beautiful ladies, Lucretia, one of whom had become Duchess of Leinster. Thus encouraged, he The Grady pedigree had grown into an obsession with its possessors, since discovering that few American girls by much liberal kindred it had been anchored to Alce, king of Clannair.

He kept his word. The wedding was something wonderful. But after the health drink in strict privacy by bridegroom and fairy god-parents was: "To the kindest liar in all the world." (Copyright, 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate).

APPROVES SEIZURE OF ALIEN RUNNERS

NEW YORK. Seizure of alien craft hovering about the three-mile limit, threatening to land liquor carriers, either by themselves or in co-operation with small run runners, was upheld Tuesday by Federal Judge Woodruff in Brooklyn.

WASHINGTON, D. C. The federal court decision in Brooklyn holding that foreign craft hovering about the three-mile limit to land rum runners are liable to seizure, may lead eventually to a ruling by the supreme court as to whether the act statute known as the "prohibitory act" may properly be invoked in the enforcement of prohibition.

launched their 1924 state campaign.
"This disrespect for the law is more dangerous than the flood of poison turned loose on the nation by the bootleggers," he asserted.

are unfounded. Farmers say their best yields will be in corn. The late planted potatoes look especially good, but earlier crops set back the early planted seed.

Look At Your Hands

You can keep them white and lovely even though you do your own work—a new idea in a household soap

What a story hands can tell!
Some women's hands tell a story of the kitchen, of the scrubbing pail.
Others, a story of good-grooming.
You can have whichever you may choose.
Just because you do your own work is no reason all the world should be taken into the secret.

For One Week!

Obtain a bar of Green Arrow at your grocer's.
Then in one week, look at your hands.
What you see will be a revelation.
Green Arrow Soap comes in two forms — Cake Soap, for general household use—Chips (or flakes) for laundry and fine fabrics. Both offer you unusual advantages.

Your Hands Tell the Story

Rough, ugly hands tell a story to the world. A story of the kitchen, the laundry, the scrub bucket.
Most women do housework.
But few want to tell it to every chance acquaintance.
Most laundry soaps contain 25 to 40% water glass. This adulter-ant, technically known as silicate of soda, is invariably accompanied by an excess of caustic.
It is this "filler"—not soap—that ruins hands. Green Arrow is made with the precision of a toilet soap and is pure soap.
Now you can have white and

STATE SECURITIES GUARDIANS MEET

MADISON, Wis. Forty states are represented at the convention of the National Association of Securities Commissioners with the opening session in the assembly chamber of the capitol today.

The convention will continue through Thursday and Friday. The first two days will be open to the public. Officials of the 40 states in the union now having blue sky regulations are in attendance to discuss better means of combating floods of worthless stock.

The accomplishments of the year and an address on the proposed uniform law by Garfield S. Canright, president of the National Association and director of the securities division of the railroad commission will be the chief activities of the first day's program.

A. G. Davis of the Illinois Securities commission will speak on "Buck-eters." Considerable interest will be centered on this talk by reason of the investigation of bucket shops now pending in Chicago and Milwaukee.

Delegates expect that the work of the association at its convention will provide a more complete cooperation between states in checking fraud in the sale of securities and it is considered probable that a program for a uniform legislative and administrative agreement will be reached.

ENTERTAINING SUMMER GUESTS

If you don't keep a maid and live in a town where help is scarce and a hospitable inclined, the problem of serving house guests a good dinner and entertaining them "ent" in the afternoon sometimes seems unsolvable. This is especially true in summer when a hot coast is not so desirable for the meat course.

This menu and these recipes may help suggest a way out:

Summer Dinner Menu
Watermelon Cocktail
Creamed Potatoes, Jellyed Veal
New Peas
Stuffed Tomato Salad
Toasted Wafers
Maple Parfait
Coffee

It will take just one hour to set the table and get this menu on it. The peas should have been shelled and the potatoes cooked and dried.

The first thing in the preparation of the meal is to put the peas on to cook. These will cook while setting the table and making the sauce for the potatoes. Old potatoes will be satisfactory, provided if allowed to stand in cold water three or four hours before boiling.

Put on to cook in cold water. When potatoes are done let cool before being served. This is as possible.

The potatoes should be cooked and dried in the morning. The salad should be crushed and ready to put together and the dessert made. The coffee should percolate while dinner is being served. The salad dressing can be made the day before and the meat must be prepared the foregoing day. All other preparations are made in the morning.

Watermelon Cocktail
Make balls of watermelon with a French vegetable cutter. Allow six or eight balls to a serving. If the melon is not sweet cover balls with sugar, about one half to a spoon of sugar for each ball is a good rule. Squeeze the juice from oranges, allowing 2 tablespoons of juice for each cocktail. Put the mixture into a glass jar, cover and let stand on ice until needed. Serve in cocktail glasses with a sprig of mint in each glass.

Creamed Potatoes
Four cups finely diced potatoes, 1 tablespoon butter, 3 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/4 teaspoon pepper, 1 tablespoon minced parsley.

Melt butter and stir in flour. Add milk slowly, stirring constantly. The milk should be added and the sauce allowed to thicken between each portion of milk. This makes a smooth, well cooked sauce. Add potatoes and let stand over hot water for fifteen minutes, or about. As the potatoes are cold they will chill the sauce.

Combine with parsley to serve. Season with salt and pepper after all the milk is in the sauce.

Jellyed Veal
Kneads and shank of veal, 3 rounds lean veal, 8 hard boiled eggs, 2 onions, 3 tablespoons minced parsley.

SUMMER DRESSMAKING

A FIGURED MATERIAL WHICH TENDS TO DETRACT FROM HEIGHT AND ADD TO WEIGHT.

Many a woman's beauty is marred by her selection of colors and her choice of materials, and this season with a wealth of fabrics and a riot of color in fashion, this situation is likely to be perplexing.

The rule for materials is general: quality counts, and right here is one point in particular wherein the home dressmaker scores. For less than the price of a ready-made garment of inferior quality she may have one of the best, and that in itself is worth the experiment.

As for colors, the subject is limitless and weighty with things the man interested in clothes should know, but space permits only a mention of them. Remember, then, that two shades or two tints of a color contrast in tone when placed side by side. For example, if you use two shades of blue or gray or any other color together, the lighter one will appear lighter and the darker darker than either appears separately.

Similarly with glossy materials and those of dull surface of precisely the same shade. The satin will appear the brighter if they are placed together, as the dull-surfaced fabric absorbs the light while the satin reflects it. These two hints may seem unimportant, but take them to heart if you are buying braids or ribbons for suit or dress, or if you are trying to match suede slippers or gloves to a satin frock or satin slippers to a crepe de chine.

Figured designs are both, as also are combinations of color. Both have a tendency to detract from height and add to apparent weight. One-color effects are easiest to work with, especially now when there are so many tints and tones.

Another point to remember, especially in making over clothes, is that quite often two colors that seem inharmonious together can be used happily enough if there is a third color between them.

CITY SCHOOLS STAMPING OUT MAL-NUTRITION

The Community Council has had a successful year in its varied activities. One splendid activity sponsored by the Community Council was the distribution of milk to school children during the past school year.

Miss Lois Wilder, the fifth grade teacher in the Lincoln school, was in direct charge of the work.

The advisory council made a study of all the school children, from the viewpoint of nutrition. All of the public school students of La Crosse were weighed and measured during the year by the committees of the Community Council. Each teacher familiarized herself with the names of the children who were found in the examination to be suffering from mal-nutrition.

Each child found to be suffering from mal-nutrition was provided with milk at 10 o'clock each forenoon during the school week. The milk was provided at the rate of 12 1/2 cents per week, but in cases where the parents were financially unable to furnish the milk, it was provided free.

A total of 47,565 half-pint bottles of milk were distributed in the La Crosse schools this year. The Webster school had the largest consumption per capita; $1,263.70 was received by the various schools. The cost of all the free milk and straws was $104.84.

Miss Wilder, who was in charge of the work deserves commendation for the efficiency of her efforts. The results of this work were most satisfactory.

WRECK POSTPONES OPENING OF TRIAL OF VICTOR ARNOLD

Madison Bond Dealer Charged With Fraud Misses Court
Date

JUDGE GRANTS DELAY
FOR PARTY TO ARRIVE

Accused of Three Schemes to Swindle Through Mails

SUPERIOR, Wis.—A freight wreck on the Chicago & Northwestern railroad delayed at Hawthorne, Wis., Wednesday morning the trial of Victor H. Arnold, president of the bankrupt Madison Bond company and of the Victor H. Arnold company of Chicago, so that he was unable to appear in court when the case was called.

A telegram from Arnold's counsel to District Attorney Walter H. Daugherty, was shown the court and Mr. Daugherty moved for a continuance until 2 p. m. to permit of the defendant's arrival. The judge granted the motion and adjourned until that time.

Case Delayed
The Arnold case was called at 10:25 a. m., the prosecuting attorney immediately moved the continuance out of courtesy to defendant counsel, who are also delayed with the defendant.

Arnold is charged with using the mails in three separate schemes to defraud in three indictments containing 31 counts, returned by the federal grand jury at Madison, Wis., December 20, 1922. The indictment contains ninety typewritten pages. Arnold was arrested in Bayside, Long Island, December 26, 1922, and arraigned before Judge E. L. Garvin of the Eastern district of New York. He pleaded not guilty, whereupon bail of $25,000 was set, which was furnished in the form of Liberty bonds, by a personal friend of the defendant.

In district court here, August 6, last, Arnold appeared with counsel, claiming to be penniless and his attorneys asserted they had no time in which to prepare for trial. A continuance was granted until today at 10 a. m., at that time.

Arnold is 63 years old, and has a wife and two grown daughters. His home is now at Chicago, although he formerly had a home at Madison also.

Charge Three Frauds
The indictment charges three schemes of defrauding by mail to the defendant. All are based upon the issuance of seven bond issues of the Madison Bond company collateral bonds.

The indictment alleges that in issuing and advertising the bond issues, Arnold said the bond issues had been passed as to legality by certain firms of attorneys, and that the securities deposited with a trustee could not be exchanged. The state claims these firms of attorneys had not passed on the legality of the bond issues, and that the securities were of lesser value in the first place and could be and were changed. Arnold denied this.

The indictment also alleges that the defendant secured control of the stock of the Madison Bond company by exchanging for it his own personal notes, representing himself to be of great personal wealth, and saying that the bond houses was in serious difficulties because of overzealousness of three employees. The state avers these things were untrue and Arnold that they were true.

Tricked to Get Bonds
The third alleged scheme, according to the indictment, consisted in Arnold's attempting to exchange his personal notes for the bonds of the Madison Bond company. This was prevented by the state banking examiners appointing a bondholders' committee which threw the Madison Bond house into bankruptcy in May, 1922.

New License Fees
The council adopted an ordinance designed to comply with the state law in respect to beverage permits and licenses. The ordinance eliminates the distinction between class A and class B permits, reducing them to one class at one license fee of $20. All licenses granted now will be in accordance with provisions of the new ordinance.

Vehicles with lugged wheels more than one-eighth of an inch in height will be permitted to move over streets in the city providing application for a permit is granted by the board of public works, according to an ordinance adopted. U. S. WILL STICK TO HARDING STAND UPON REPARATIONS

Ready to Help But Any Course
Adopted Must Serve
U. S. Interests

WASHINGTON, D. C.—By The Associated Press—Any impression abroad that there has been a modification in the American government's attitude on reparations was said on high authority Wednesday to be unwarranted.

Furthermore the White House assurance that the United States would give "ready response" to the proposals from Europe looking to American aid was coupled with the specific limitation that it would be the first business of the new administration to see that any course adopted served American interests.

Hope for Arbitration
Whether that course would be through official participation by the government or not, it would have governmental sanction should the allies ultimately conclude to follow some arbitration course.

So far as the present tense situation between Great Britain and Italy on the one hand and France and Belgium on the other is concerned, American officials have no comment to make, and there is no indication that the coming of President Coolidge to his new post will affect the American attitude.

No Discussion
The cabinet on Tuesday did not discuss foreign affairs. A spokesman for the president, in making this fact known, added that it might be regarded as a hopeful sign.

White House that President Coolidge would follow the policies enunciated by President Harding with respect to collection of the foreign debts.

It was said by an administration spokesman that this government had every intention of going ahead with its effort to fund the present obligations and collect them on the basis of such terms as may be agreed upon by the debt funding commission.

mentary basis than any put into office since the founding of the republic."

He criticized the retiring chancellor, Wilhelm Cuno, to whom he referred as "the first private citizen of business prominence to place himself at the political service of the young republic."

Silent on League of Nations
The new cabinet's policy, the chancellor declared, will consist in bringing order into Germany's international affairs.

No reference was made in the statement to the government's attitude with regard to application for admittance to the league of nations, one of the socialists' demands, which today was reinforced by visits to the cabinet members by Albert Thomas, French socialist and head of the league's labor bureau, who urged that Germany seek entry into the league.

FUNERAL ADDRESS HOT ASSAULT ON RECKLESS DRIVERS

Huge Throng Attends Rites
for Fond du Lac
Girl

FOND DU LAC, Wis.—Addressing an assemblage that filled the big auditorium of the Presbyterian church and overflowed out on the street at the funeral Tuesday afternoon of 16-year old Madeleine Bauers, victim of a tragic auto accident on highway 15 last Saturday, the Rev. A. W. Raabe, pastor of the church, denounced in scathing terms the present laws regulating the issuance of auto licenses and also the alleged negligence of the Fond du Lac county board in providing but one motorcycle officer to police the many miles of the seven concrete highways radiating from the city.

"At the present, a person can obtain an auto license from the state without a reference as to his fitness or ability," said the speaker. "He may be a maniac, he may be blind, he may be a mere child, he may be utterly incompetent, yet the state will permit that person to operate a car. In many instances the auto is worse than a gun in the hands of an infant—it endangers not only the occupants of the car, but every one on the highway. The trouble is that the license is issued to the car rather than the driver. It is high time we correct our error and make it necessary for one to prove his fitness before he can operate an automobile on the highways."

Evans, driver of the death car, is still missing. District Attorney James Murray said on Tuesday that a warrant charging him with driving of a stolen car, driving at reckless speed, and manslaughter, would be issued Tuesday afternoon immediately following the funeral.

DENMARK A COUNTRY OF INTENSIVE FARMING

Science tells us that nine or ten thousand years ago, at the time of the glacial period, the site of Copenhagen was a part of the great roof of chalk and lime upon which now stands the Kingdom of Denmark. Then the whole country lay under the sea, but the huge ice sheets, as thick as those that cover the Greenland of today, moved down from Norway, carrying earth and stones with them.

They were several miles thick and when they struck this chalk roof they dropped the earth and stones upon it and thus built this land. Today the scientists can follow the furrows plowed by the rocks in the beds of the glaciers all the way from Norway to Germany.

A land formed in that way could not have very good soil, and were it not for the fertilization and intensive cultivation adopted by the Danes, many of their farms would be producing insufficient to live on. Much of the soil was too poor to grow trees and even now only about one-twelfth of it is wooded. It has no minerals to speak of, and the sea and the soil worked by the brains and muscle of its people are its principal assets.

Nature's Unused Facilities Disappear

If, even for a short time, Nature's gifts are allowed to go unused, she is very apt to take them back again. Many nocturnal creatures—owls, bats and the like—have almost lost the power of seeing by day. They have developed eyes with widely opened pupils able to take in the faintest glimmers of light; but what they have gained in one direction they have lost in another, for their large pupils cannot close when they encounter strong sunlight, with the result that those creatures become dazzled and nearly blind on bright days.

COWSLEY ADOPTED BY CHIPPEWA AND RAISED TO CHIEF

SUPERIOR, Wis.—Alvin Cowsley, national commander of the American Legion Wednesday was adopted into the tribe of the Chippewa Indians by a band from the Conduary reservation who came here for that purpose. After the ancient ceremony of adoption, by which Cowsley was made a brave, he was raised to the rank of a Chippewa chieftain, following completion of tribal dances and customs.

Upon him was bestowed the Indian name of Na-Nau-Ong-Ga-Ba, which means "the beautiful bird."

The Indians furnished a colorful feature at the convention, immediately after Cowsley delivered his address.

CHARGES MEREDITH KNEW OF PLANS TO DEFLATE FARMERS

Brookhart Says He Was in Cabinet and Saw Plot
Matured

RADCLIFFE, Iowa.—By The Associated Press.—The charge that E. W. Meredith, while secretary of agriculture in the Wilson cabinet, saw plans laid for the deflation of agriculture and failed to warn the farmers of the country, or to prevent the contraction of the value of their products was made by United States Senator Smith W. Brookhart of Iowa, in an address at a farm bureau picnic here Wednesday.

Instead of protesting or acting to prevent the deflation, Senator Brookhart declared, the secretary of agriculture "sat in the Wall Street game and helped produce the greatest panic in farm prices in the history of agriculture."

Mr. Brookhart's address was in the nature of a reply to a recent statement by Mr. Meredith, in which the latter expressed the opinion the secretary was over-estimating the seriousness of the reduction in the price of wheat and other farm products.

OTHER STATES IN BATTLE TO SLASH GASOLINE PRICES

South Dakota Governor Who Started it Says Cut Will Last

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—While gasoline prices in many states Wednesday laid in supplies of gasoline at prices lower than 20 cents, investigations designed to secure reductions in prices were either under way or planned in states not yet affected by the price cuts. Eastern states today joined the middle west and southern sections with announced reductions.

"The war has just begun," declared Governor W. H. McInnes of South Dakota, whose order to state highway depots to sell gasoline in South Dakota at sixteen cents a gallon precipitated action by the Standard Oil company of Indiana to reduce prices in the middle west. The South Dakota executive said the "war" would continue "until gasoline is permanently retailed at a reasonable price."

Reaches East Coast
NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—The gasoline price cutting war that has been under way for several days in mid-western and southern states, where retail prices were reduced in some states 6.6 cents a gallon, spread Wednesday to the Atlantic seaboard.

Led by the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, four large oil companies announced cuts of one to two cents a gallon in the tank wagon price. The wholesale price will average 19.1-2 cents a gallon and the retail price 23.

Cuts announced were effective in New England, New York, New Jersey, North and South Carolina, Virginia, Maryland, District of Columbia and West Virginia.

Public Debate

THE WHITE TERROR

Editor La Crosse Tribune and Leader Press, City.
Dear Sir:
A short while ago you wrote an article commending the road builders working between Onalaska and Midway. They were entitled to the praise.

Now, on Hill street, North La Crosse, we have had something a little different. Work on this street started a little over a year ago and has just been completed. Average speed on city block of pavement every two months. Paid for by property owners before completed. People heading street cars in this section asked their limbs and lives to do so. Strangers and tourists crossing this street or Kane (highway) in auto's during the last twelve months will never forget La Crosse.

All in all the forethought and efficiency shown in the construction of this street, was wonderful. I guess not.

MADISON, Wis.—A governors' conference will be held at West Baden, Ind., Sept. 17, 18 and 19, Miles C. Riley, Madison, announced on Tuesday.

The governors will discuss vital problems facing the states today. Last year among the subjects taken up were the liquor question and the Ku Klux Klan.

CASE Baffles Physicians
AT SUPERIOR HOSPITAL
SUPERIOR, Wis.—With his body practically dead, but his brain active, Olaf Henry Jonsen, a sailor, who was shot in a fight here August 7, last, still lives—an enigma to physicians and hospital attendants. Only the young man's remarkable stamina keeps him alive, according to authorities at the hospital. One of the four bullets which struck Jonsen severed his spinal cord and left him paralyzed from the hips down. Physicians operated and removed some of the bone from the spinal column in an attempt to locate the bullet which paralyzed Jonsen, but the bullet was not found.

NEW YORK.—By The Associated Press.—Seizure of a complete plant for the manufacture of counterfeit $100 federal reserve notes in Floral park, L. I. Tuesday night, was announced by Joseph A. Palm, chief of secret service agents in New York.

The capture was effected just as operators of the plant were running off the first set of proofs and the promptness with which the secret service acted, prevented any of the notes from getting into circulation. Five men alleged to have been implicated in the plot, were arrested.

ANTHRAX ATTACKS HUMANS
JURON, S. D.—Human beings are being attacked by anthrax in Beadle and Hand counties, as a result of their coming in contact with the cattle afflicted with the disease. In Beadle county, Dr. E. T. A report from St. Lawrence, in Hand county, says four cases of anthrax in humans are being treated at a hospital there.

DEVIL'S GRIPPE SPREADS; CASES TO BE ISOLATED

RICHMOND, Va.—Twelve new cases of "devil's gripe" making a total of forty cases now under treatment here, were reported Tuesday to the health officer, Dr. C. D. Hudson. As a result of the spread of the mysterious and painful new malady Dr. Hudson recommended that all sufferers be isolated. He said that the characteristic of the disease indicated it was infectious. Children have been found to be especially susceptible to the disease, the health officer declared, adding that he believed it to be an outgrowth of influenza.

TEACHER SHORTAGE IN RICE COUNTY

FARIBAULT, Minn.—Rice county will be forced to import rural school teachers for the first time in several years, according to John H. Lewis, county superintendent of schools. There is a lack of local teachers, caused by marriages and changes to higher positions by teachers who were in rural schools last year. As a rule, Mr. Lewis says, the supply has exceeded the demand, but higher salaries offered in other counties where the shortage of teachers has been acute, has drawn away the usual surplus.

EX-CONGRESSMAN FROM VIRGINIA IS "CAL'S" SECRETARY

Old Campaigner Known as Astute G. O. P. Pilot Succeeds Christian

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Campbell Bascom Slomp, former congressman from Virginia, well known in national politics as a southern Republican leader, has been appointed secretary to the President. It was announced at the White House today.

Mr. Slomp succeeds George B. Christian Jr. who tendered his resignation immediately following President Harding's funeral. The appointment occasioned considerable surprise in Washington as it had been predicted generally that Mr. Coolidge would select Edward T. Clark, his secretary, as Vice President.

An Able Politician

Announcement of the appointment of Mr. Slomp came after he had a long conference with the President this afternoon. Mr. Slomp is known as a politician of the highest order. Ample evidence of this is furnished by the fact that for many years, notwithstanding his Republicanism, he was regularly re-elected to congress from the Democratic state of Virginia, until he retired voluntarily last March 4 to give attention to his personal affairs.

Mr. Slomp is a native of Turkey Cove, Lee county, Virginia, and was born in 1870. He was graduated from Virginia Military Institute in 1891 and studied law at the University of Virginia, taught mathematics at Virginia Military Institute in 1900 and 1901 and practiced law at Big Stone Gap, Va., thereafter. He is president of the Slomp Coal company, the Hamilton Realty company, and other corporations. He has been chairman of the Republican state committee of Virginia since 1905.

SPEECH OF OWSLEY
FEATURES OPENING OF LEGION SESSION

National Commander Addresses Superior Convention of State Veterans

SUPERIOR, Wis.—At 9:30 a. m. Wednesday the Wisconsin department of the American Legion opened its fifth annual convention in a joint meeting with the third annual convention of their ladies' auxiliary. The principal event of the morning was the speech of National Commander Alvin Owsley, which ended the joint meeting. It was preceded by addresses of welcome by F. A. Baxter, mayor of Superior, and John A. Barton, chairman of the board of county supervisors, and by greetings from Le Baron L. Harper, general chairman of the local post's convention committee. To this greeting, F. Ryan Duffy, state commander, responded.

Greetings were also received from Alfred S. Eaton, state commander of the Grand Army of the Republic; A. T. Ledin, department commander of the United Spanish War veterans and Mrs. J. P. Clemens, president of the local legion auxiliary post. "box car" society, Ed. J. Elvers, and the president of the Wisconsin Legion auxiliary, Mrs. George W. Fisher, also spoke.

Mrs. Donald MacRae, national vice president of the American Legion auxiliary, immediately preceded Mr. Owsley in addressing the delegates.

SALVAGING CONTINUES
AFTER WATKINS FIRE
RUINS SMOLDERING

Salvaging operations are continuing at the storage building of the J. R. Watkins Co., of Winona, which was partly destroyed in a fire and cave in early Saturday morning. A crew of men is at work in the building removing the debris which fell to the basement from the upper floors. Occasionally through the day the smoldering embers underneath emitted smoke, necessitating additional water from the hose which is constantly held in readiness.

Water has been entirely removed from the basement of the administration building, but in other buildings of the plant the pumps were still engaged in removing water which has seeped through since the fire.

MARTINS ENTOMBED
INTRUDING SPARROW

An English ornithologist, G. Garrett, makes a specialty of observing the manners and methods followed by birds. He recently recalled the story of a sparrow which, finding a newly built martin's nest, took "possession" in the absence of the owner. The martin, seeing the usurper, called for help, and soon a thousand martins came, at "full speed" to attack the sparrow; but the latter was invulnerable. After a quarter of an hour's conflict all the martins disappeared. The sparrow thought he had got the better, and the spectators judged that the martins had abandoned their undertaking.

Not in the least! They immediately returned to the charge, and, each of them having procured a little of the tempered earth with which they make their nests, they all at once fell upon the sparrow and enclosed him in the nest to perish there, although they could not drive him out.

CROP REPORT

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—Synopsis of weather and crop conditions in Wisconsin for the week ending Tuesday, August 14:

Moderate temperatures prevailed and local showers occurred on several days during the week. All growing crops were benefited. However, in most localities corn, potatoes, truck and pastures are suffering for the lack of sufficient moisture and soaking rains are needed generally. Corn is mostly in good condition; some firing on light soils was reported. The crop is mostly in the roasting ear stage in southern counties. The threshing of barley, oats and spring wheat progressed and is nearing completion in southern counties. Yields are generally below the average. Potatoes are mostly in good condition, but are not doing well on account of the dry weather. Pastures are mostly poor. Truck is in fair condition. Sugar beets good. Cranberries are fair to good, but need rain. The water supply for flooding the cranberry marshes as a frost protection is inadequate. Tobacco is doing fairly well and less disease than usual is reported. Fall plowing is delayed on account of dry ground.—W. P. Stewart, Meteorologist.

A Snake Dance of the Turkeys

A flock of wild turkeys encountering a snake behave in the most extraordinary manner. At the sight of the snake the birds begin to dance slowly round it. As the turkeys dance they lower their wings, raise and spread their tails and utter a continuous querulous call. Single birds will sometimes break from the revolving circle to make frantic dashes at the snake. For an hour or more the dervishlike performance will continue, and if the snake is not too formidable the flock will probably kill it. Otherwise they will leave it dazed and defeated by their conduct and noise.

GRAIN PRICE FIXING
FAILS IN ROUMANIA

Has Resulted in More Serious Situation Than Before Action Was Taken

BUCHAREST.—Roumania is facing an exceptional problem in dealing with the high cost of living, which is unusual in an agricultural country, simply capable of supplying its own people and exporting large amounts of foodstuffs.

It was hoped to solve this problem by two legislative measures, one fixing the prices of food products, and the other forbidding exports, by means of high duties which practically made exports impossible. It is now announced by M. Garofid, former minister of agriculture, that the fixing of prices and the discouragement of exports have resulted in a more serious situation than existed before these measures were applied.

Both the price-fixing and the practical prohibition of exports of food supplies needed at home have discouraged production to a notable extent, says the former minister of agriculture. "Roumania, formerly one of the world's wheat markets, has become a negligible quantity in wheat exportation. In addition, the amount of wheat available for home consumption has been diminished because of the fact that the prices fixed were, in some instances, less than the prices that would have afforded a reasonable margin of profit to producers."

New legislation is about to be submitted to parliament to deal with the admittedly grave question.

PIGEONS ON WAITING ORDERS

WASHINGTON.—Radio and all other modern methods of communication have not succeeded in ousting the carrier pigeon from its position as an important factor in the war time transmission of intelligence.

The American army maintains 1,400 birds along the Mexican border, in Hawaii, in the Canal Zone, and elsewhere distributed at some 22 army posts. Fifty are fed daily in the Philippines, while at Camp Vail, New Jersey, the reserve headquarters, 400 birds draw their rations, waiting to be of service in the field in which, in the past, they have proved themselves most valuable.

SAYS DIVORCE HABIT IS GRAVE PERIL TO OUR NATIONAL LIFE

Separation Decrees Issued in U. S. at Rate of One Every Four Minutes

WINONA LAKE, Ind.—Divorces are granted in America at the rate of one every four minutes throughout the year, and are more numerous here annually in proportion to total population than in any other country which records marriage statistics. The annual total of divorces for the 48 states is in the neighborhood of 160,000 and is increasing three times as fast as the population. Such are the conclusions of Judge W. H. Thomas of Santa Ana, California, former associate justice of the California District Court of Appeals, drawn from a world survey of marriage and divorce figures in preparation for an American campaign for a national code governing marital relations.

Judge Thomas' survey included 51 countries, and the summary of his study, made public here, reaches back into the domestic relations of ancient Rome, Greece and Babylon. In his conclusions is the suggestion that our national life is seriously threatened by the present status of our family relationships. Much of our trouble, he believes, is chargeable to the chaotic state of our marriage laws, and his recommendation is a uniform law, applicable to all American territory, based on wisdom and experience.

"In contrast with our records, one divorce for every nine marriages," Judge Thomas said, "those of France and Germany, our closest competitors, dwindle into insignificance. We have only one rival, Japan. Until recently that nation has been grinding out divorces faster than our own. Now, however, the United States Census Bureau discloses a rapidly mounting table of divorce which far outstrips the rate of increase in population. Our rate of increase in divorces between 1870 and 1917, was for the entire country, exactly 400 per cent."

In 180, he said, we had 28 divorces for every 100,000 of population; in 1916 the figure was 112 for each 100,000.

"Our country heads the list among the nations of the world in this downward procession. In 1890 there were 33,107 divorces here; in 1910 there were 112,000. In Canada in the whole year of 1913 there were 59 divorces."

COACHING AT U ON NEW SYSTEM COMING SEASON

Ryan, Brader, Trainor, Lohman, Jones, Driver and Tebell in Charge

MADISON, Wis.—The coaching staff of the University of Wisconsin football squad for the coming fall has been virtually completed, and little more than a month remains before the real work of the season begins. Headed by Jack Ryan, newly elected head coach, Jim Brader, right tackle on last season's team, with Barney Trainor, center and captain of last year's College team, Guy Lohman, T. E. Jones, athletic director, Earl S. (Keg) Driver and probably Gus Tebell will complete the staff.

Tebell Not Sure Tebell, an end on last year's team and one of the best ever developed at Wisconsin, may not be here. He is at present employed on an engineering job in the east, and athletic authorities at the university have not heard from him recently.

Coach Ryan refuses to paint a rosy picture for the coming season, declaring that with a new system in effect, and the squad beginning at the bottom, it will be difficult to bring the team to a point where it can be expected to win the majority of its games.

The loss of some of the best men on last year's squad, including Ralph Williams, at half and E. H. Gibson, his running back, with Shorty Barr at quarter back, a large hole is left to fill.

CHICK EVANS CASE WILL BE UP IN COURT IN WEEK

Moore, a broker. Judge McKinley said he would take the complaint of Moore under advisement.

The New York Yankees used the holiday in playing an exhibition game with Indianapolis, of the American Association, at Indianapolis. Although Babe Ruth made three home runs, the middle westerners won, 11 to 7.

In the National, the Chicago Cubs captured two games to Boston, 6 to 1 and 5 to 4. Boston made twelve hits to Chicago's nine in the second game, but they were well spread and didn't count for much.

The Philadelphia Nationals and the Pittsburgh Pirates engaged in a rubber in Philadelphia, the home team winning in a large way, 16 to 10.

Clas. A. Corniskey, grand old To-morrow, today is celebrating his sixty-fourth birthday. Corniskey is the old owner of the Chicago Americans, and one of the most widely known men in baseball. The Philadelphia and Pittsburgh teams will have charge of the three center men, while Brader will take care of the tackles and Tebell is expected to be assigned to the wing-men.

FIRST MATCHES IN BADGER TENNIS MEET PLAYED ON TUESDAY

Hubbell and O'Connell, Chicago, Defeat Paddock and Thomas

MILWAUKEE, Wis.—First round matches in the doubles of the State tennis tournament were played on Tuesday. Hubbell and O'Connell of Chicago, defeated Paddock and Thomas of Milwaukee. The score was 6-3, 6-1.

Spurred on by their fighting manager, Tyrus Cobb, who paced three doubles, the Detroit Americans went after Naylor and Walberg and pounded out a victory over the Philadelphia Americans in the first game of the series. Cobb's three doubles were made in succession.

Sammy Hale, Connie Mack's star second baseman, obtained from the Portland club of the Pacific coast, was hit in the side by a pitched ball during the game between Detroit and Philadelphia and had to be assisted off the field. It is not believed he was seriously hurt.

The Chicago Nationals got off to a good start on their final invasion of the east when they battled Boston to a standstill and won a double-header, "Spark Plug" Adams, who poked a home run in each game, and Arnold Stutz, were important factors in the twin killing.

The New York Nationals returned home after a successful invasion of the west, and celebrated by knocking Brooklyn off in the first game of the series. "Dutch" Henry pitched well for the Brooklynites, but was given poor support.

Fate Bancroft, captain of the world's champions, returned to the line-up after an absence of seven weeks, and played a great game at his old position around the keystone sack. He accepted five chances without a slip, scored two of his club's three runs and bagged one hit.

EVERETT, Wash.—Jimmy Sacco of Boston and Solly Heenan of Seattle, junior lightweight champion of the Pacific coast, boxed six rounds to a draw.

AVIATORS KILLED YENICE, Calif.—Joe Huff, known along the Pacific coast as the fall-axiator, and Edwin Dillall, a negro, were killed when the airplane in which they were riding, crashed to earth.

BRITISH SOLDIERS PREPARE TO LEAVE TURKISH TERRITORY

Evacuation of Straits Region to be Completed Six Weeks After Treaty Was Signed

CONSTANTINOPLE.—By The Associated Press.—With the coming of peace at Lausanne, preparations are being made by the British army to evacuate the territory which they have held since the armistice. There will be genuine regret among all the Christian peoples here, and no little among the educated class of Turks, when General Harrington and his 12,000 soldiers bid farewell to the Golden Horn. For whatever misadventure their presence gave to the new regime in Ankara, their occupation of the capital and Straits has been a power for good.

Indeed, with the small French and Italian armies and the Yankee troops from the American destruction in the Aegean, the British soldiers have been the main source of security and order throughout the large area occupied by the Turks. Time and time again at Chalk, in Gallipoli, at Constantinople and in Thrace, their patience has been tried by the Turk, but they have kept their rifles muzzled, their bayonets reversed and their tongues in leash.

General Sir Charles Harrington, the patient and tactful commander-in-chief of the allied forces here, has addressed a typical message of commendation and of caution to his officers and men. In it General Harrington, who is believed of all ranks, for his human qualities and his constant solicitude for his men, says:

"It must be realized that it is only human to expect that our departure will be heralded with a certain amount of satisfaction by the Turks. I look to all ranks to conduct themselves during this period with dignity and restraint, and to do all in their power to avoid incidents, so that the evacuation may be carried out in accordance with the high standard which exists throughout the force, and so that they may leave behind them a memory and respect for British forces which will be long-lived in Turkey and in the history of the British Empire."

All have a difficult task to perform. The patience and restraint which have been exercised by the troops are beyond all praise, and worthy of the best traditions. The closing weeks may be difficult ones, and for this reason I ask all ranks to help me in completing the task with the dignity and high sense of duty which has so characterized the forces I have been so proud to have under my command.

The evacuation will be completed six weeks after the ratification of the peace treaty. General Harrington has asked his government for instructions regarding the status of the army of occupation during the period subsequent to the ratification until evacuation. He suggests the provision that no Turkish forces shall be allowed to come to Constantinople, and that no triumphal entries shall take place until the last of the troops have gone, in order to avoid the danger of incidents during the delicate period.

USE YOUR WASTE

Many housewives throw away useful things without realizing they are doing so.

When, for example, you dream that egg shells are useful for cleaning burned sauce pans? You will soon find that this is so if you crush the shells, lay them on a piece of damp cloth and rub well round the inside as well as the outside of the saucepan. You need have no fear that the shells will scratch.

No matter how often you charge the flowers or the water in a glass vase, you will find that the bottom will become discolored. To remove this discoloration, crush some egg shells and place them in the bottom of the vase. Then put in a little water and shake the contents well. The glass will soon become clear once more.

The gardener can also use egg shells, for they form a splendid fertilizer when crushed very finely.

There is nothing finer than dried orange or lemon peel for starting a fire. They flare up right away. To dry these, place them beneath your stove or grate next time you light a fire.

When you buy a lot of nuts, don't consign the shells to the dustbin, but keep them for the fire.

With the aid of potato peelings you can make a serviceable scourer. Wash some cleanings and boil them in a saucepan of water. When they come to the boil, strain off the water and leave it to cool. You have no further use for the peelings, so the hens can make a meal of them.

As soon as the water is cold, dip a brush in it and rub well into the material to be cleaned. You should then press the serge with a hot iron and a damp cloth, after which it will look almost new.

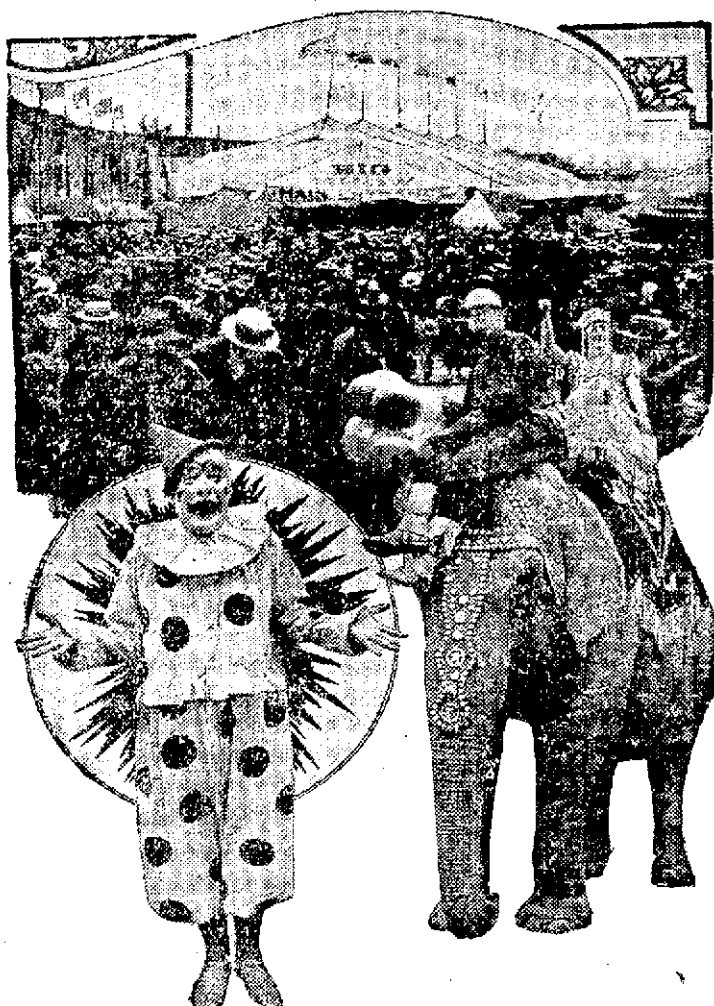

Bread for France

The principal food of the French people is bread. In an exceptional year France raises nearly enough wheat to supply its needs, but after a mediocre harvest like that of 1922, it has to import large quantities from abroad. On account of the rate of exchange France in 1922 had to pay seventy francs abroad for an amount of wheat that was worth only twenty-five francs at home. An agricultural congress at Paris recently organized a campaign to enable France and its colonies to raise all the wheat it will need in 1923. The campaign will urge not so much increased acreage as better methods, better seed and better fertilizer.

A dream seldom lasts more than five seconds.

ALUMNI OF FEDERAL TRAINING CAMPS TO ORGANIZE SOCIETY

CHICAGO.—The ground work for an alumni society that bids fair to be the largest in the United States in the course of time, is being laid by those who are organizing and preparing to conduct the Citizens' Military Training Camps in the various states this year.

The announcement of the alumni society's organization says: "The men who attended the first voluntary camps in 1913, 1914, 1915 and 1916 joined in forming the Military Training Camps association of the United States, and this is the real alumni society of all who believe in the 'Plattsburg Idea' of General Leonard Wood, and who have been trained in the citizens' camps."

"This year the men in each camp are invited to group themselves as a part of the nation-wide organization, to be known as the Citizens' Military Training Camps Alumni."

"In order to make this effective the candidates from each county will select their own captain. These, in turn, will select their own state captain and these state captains will, in turn, select a corps area captain."

Charles, will be issued to each county company, but the real organization of the alumni body will take place at the camps during this summer.

Burial Place of Antiochus

The burial place of Herod's first cousin, Antiochus, has been found by explorers of the museum of the University of Pennsylvania at Beth-Shean, in Palestine. Antiochus is said to have been the officer to whom Herod gave the task of murdering the first-born children of Judea at the time of Christ's birth. Dr. Fisher, the director of excavations, also reported the first discovery of coffins of the Philistines. They were made of clay; each one bore the likeness of a human face modeled into the clay.

MIDDLE WEST AGAIN ON THE RAMPAGE, SAYS EDITOR W. A. WHITE

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass.—The middle west is on the rampage again, said William Allen White of Emporia, Kan., in a letter to William S. Calhoun of the federal trade commission which Mr. Calhoun read at a round table conference of the Institute of Politics Tuesday.

Commenting on agricultural conditions and the election of Magnus Johnson as senator from Minnesota, Mr. White wrote:

"Basically, our trouble is the old trouble we have had for forty years—transportation. We have to ship everything we sell to a buyer and put transportation in everything we buy from the market. We are overloaded with freight rates. The farmer may be unwise in looking to politics for his remedy, but he does look to politics for a remedy, and when he gets into politics he raises the very devil. It is a curious thing that when the farmer gets mad because he is unfairly treated in the matter of transportation he forgets more or less about the transportation question and does something else."

He wrote that the election of Magnus Johnson, "taken with that of Shipstead, Frazier, Ladd, Brookhart, and the tremendous majority given to La Follette, the victory of Ferris in Michigan, and the obvious complex of Nebraska and Kansas as revealed by the recent election proves very definitely that the middle west is on the rampage again."

Twice Daniel Craig was the victim of circumstantial evidence. On the second occasion he was accused and convicted of murder and sentenced to serve twenty years in state's prison, where he became No. 777. Escaping, he brought about the release of more than a hundred prisoners, including five hardened and dangerous criminals, whom he had not intended to turn loose. Inspired by his love for a brave and beautiful young woman, he resolved to devote his life to recapturing the five outlaws.

The story of Daniel Craig's amazing adventures, in prison and out, is told in "Three Sevens," at the Majestic the last times tonight.

STRAND TODAY

Never in the course of her eminently successful career has Bessie Barriscale been seen in a role better suited to her talents than that which has been entrusted to her in "The Breaking Point," which is the featured attraction at the Strand Theatre tonight.

As the sacrificing young mother whose one thought is for her child—whose very existence centers around her baby, Miss Barriscale paints, with subtle strokes of artistry, as compelling a mother-study as has ever been given to the silver-sheet.

CASINO TODAY

Nell Shipman's new picture, in which she appears in the Casino Theatre today is called "The Grub Stake" and was written by the versatile star.

"Grub-Stake! What a world of meaning in the term! To thousands of men it has meant death; to other thousands a hazardous living, and to fortune's favored few, untold wealth. There are many rich men in this country who made their fortunes by grub-staking some poor prospector, snuffing him out into the wilderness, alone, to wrest from Mother Earth the secret of her hidden treasure. Sometimes the prospector struck it rich and made himself and his partner wealthy. Sometimes he did not come back, and a lonely grave or some whitening bones told their tale. Sometimes he returned without gold but hopeful; the lure of the dim trail the certainty of the pot of gold at the rainbow's end still calling him on in the face of danger, privation and disappointment."

"THE BACK DOOR"

Many persons have read of Ellis Island, regarded as the gateway to the land of freedom by Europeans, but comparatively few have ever seen this great institution. In the Mary Pickford film play, "Through the Back Door," playing Riviera tonight and Thursday, an excellent view of the island is shown. The scene depicts immigrants actually entering this country. The pictures were made in New York Harbor by M. Schneider, an expert cameraman under the supervision of Mark Larkin, director of publicity for Mary Pickford, at a time when the congestion of immigrants was greatest at Ellis Island. It is said that a near riot was occasioned when it became known to the foreigners that pictures were being taken for a Pickford play. They believed little Mary was there in person.

"LITTLE WILDCAT"

Real detectives, one a guard at San Quentin, are used in scenes of "Little Wildcat," the Alice Calhoun production which will be shown at Majestic Theatre on Thursday.

SHE MARRIED A PRINCE

Mrs. John D. Spreckles, Jr., cabaret singer, divorcee and widow, has just become the bride of Prince Suad Chakir, member of one of Constantinople's richest families. Her career has been checkered with adventures of romance and dotted with several love affairs which came to grief. She was formerly Miss Didi Wirt of Garden City, Kas.

Jestic Theater on Thursday

These were engaged because the director believed that no one but a real detective would give the atmosphere required by the script. In the early scenes of "Little Wildcat" Alice Calhoun appears as a delirious, a member of the underworld. She works out her own salvation, however, and in the later scenes becomes a society girl.

"THORNS AND ORANGE BLOSSOMS"

The person who said there was nothing new under the sun uttered words of wisdom. One season skirts are long, next they are short. Styles recur in a circle—on the screen as elsewhere. Not so long ago the little gray haired mother, whose children ran away and left her, was the popular character in the movie theater. Last season the vogue was sheiks, but right now the Hollywood forecast points inevitably to the vampire.

The 1922 model vampire is far more convincing than the one of half a dozen seasons ago. She is not a heavy, spongy creature who swallows herself in velvets and pearls, but an infinitely more human girl. She is tall and slim and dresses in the latest modes.

There is always a queen among vampires. Not long ago Theda Bara was the one, but right now the crown jewels go to Estelle Taylor. She is a supreme household terror. Having completed work a few months ago in the modernized version of "A Fool There Was," B. P. Schulberg chose her for the leading part in Bertha M.

MUTE CONGREGATION TO ESTABLISH NEW CHURCH IN CHICAGO

Silent Worshipers to Have Permanent Church Home With Dedication of City Temple

CHICAGO, Ill.—By The Associated Press.—Chicago's silent church congregation, composed of many of the 2,000 deaf of the city, will have a permanent church home when the new City Temple is dedicated, according to the Rev. Philip J. Hasenstab, pastor.

The members of the deaf mission have been without a place of meeting of their own since the old First Church, on the site of the new edifice, was pulled down.

"But the deaf congregation still holds its services once a week," says Constance E. Hasenstab, assistant pastor. "Every Sunday afternoon they come together from all parts of the city for their worship service of Scripture reading, sermon and hymns in the sign language."

"There is an illustrated stereopticon lecture, and by watching the signs of the interpreter they enjoy programs of readings, plays and songs. We also have study courses with 35 members of the deaf congregation enrolled."

Twice every month the negro deaf meet at Harrell Center with a somewhat similar program to that given for the other members of the church.

Chicago's work for the deaf began in 1889. The permanent church was organized in 1903. The Rev. Mr. Hasenstab came here from the state school for the deaf at Jacksonville to organize a congregation. Recently the work has grown to include three state schools for the deaf in 50 cities.

The weight of the average man's brain is three and one-half pounds.

A REAL TREAT IN HOT WEATHER

COMING EVENTS CAST THEIR SHADOWS BEFORE—

Events, do we say? Certainly—for pictures such as Nell Shipman contributes to the Screen ARE events, and events of DISTINCTION.

BECAUSE she alone of all producers employs a large number of North American wild animals as actors in a drama.

AND SHE ALONE of all actresses braves the perils of bitter winters in far Northern regions and the uncertain tempers of the beasts of that country to achieve the unusual.

YOU WILL RECALL Nell Shipman in "The Girl from God's Country," and "Back to God's Country"—the wondrous beauty and mighty thrill of these—and their wonderful wild animal actors—

Like Santa Claus she comes from the North but once a year and bestows her gifts of entertainment to an eager world.

Nell Shipman in "The Grub Stake"

WRITTEN BY NELL SHIPMAN

The supporting cast includes Alfred Allen, Walt Whitman, Hugh Thompson, George Berrell and the famous Nell Shipman wild animals, Cougar, Mountain Lion, Badger, Bears, Lynx, Deer, Wolves, Coyotes, Beavers, Raccoons, Porcupines, Skunk, Squirrels, Marmots, Eagles, Ducks, Owls.

CYLINDER REGRINDING

GRIND YOUR CYLINDER- WHY?

Because you know that when an automobile comes from the maker the engine has true, ROUND CYLINDERS. You also know that as soon as you start to run your ENGINE wear takes place in the CYLINDER. Unfortunately the wear is not UNIFORM, and is only a question of time when your CYLINDERS are out of round and taper. Your engine pumps oil, fouls plugs, develops a knock or piston slap or consumes oil and gasoline out of proportion to the service rendered. Therefore you cannot correct the error simply by changing pistons and rings. To overcome these troubles your CYLINDERS must be REGROUND and fitted with over-size pistons and rings. Then you will have an ENGINE the same as what you got from the maker.

GOOD SPECIAL-Ford cylinders reground and fitted with over-size pistons, wrist pins, bushings and rings, complete, $16.00.

All work guaranteed.

Prices reasonable.

WASHINGTON ELM DEAD REPORT OF FORESTRY EXPERT

Famous Tree Where He Took Command to Be Cut Down

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—The Washington elm is dead. The official demise of the famed tree beneath which Washington took command of the Continental army was announced Monday by Dr. C. S. Sargent, director of the Arnold Arboretum of Harvard University. In a letter to Mayor Edward W. Quinn of Cambridge.

"All signs of life have now gone from the Washington elm," Dr. Sargent wrote, "and there is no longer any chance of keeping it alive until the autumn. So far as I am concerned it can be cut down at any time."

Mayor Quinn, it is learned, is eager to raise a fund from the school children of the country for a shaft to mark the historic spot when the tree has disappeared.

The trunk will probably be cut into small bits to be distributed as souvenirs among the thousands of the country and the Cambridge schools.

On a tablet at the foot of the famous tree were engraved the words: "Under this tree Washington took command of the American Army, July 3, 1775."

An offshoot of the Washington elm was planted on the Cambridge common forty years ago and now is flourishing.

FILLION RELEASED

MADISON, Wis.—John Fillion, former federal prohibition officer, has been freed from a charge of extortion placed against him following raids at Hurley, Wis., in 1920. He was to have been tried at the present term of federal court. The release came on the grounds of a lack of evidence.

Density of Berg Ice

Berg ice is the densest and most solid form in which ice exists. Tremendous pressure has squeezed the air out of it and has given to it a resisting power that is not possessed by any other form of ice. A steamship ramming an iceberg drawing several hundred feet of water has but little chance of escape if striking it under full speed. Not even an ice-breaker can withstand a collision with such an object.

KILLS SELF AS SUITOR FAILS TO KEEP DATE

CHICAGO—Miss Audrey Peebles, 15 years old, waited two hours after her married suitor had promised to telephone her and then swallowed poison, dying shortly afterwards, according to the police version of the tragedy on Monday.

Miss Peebles left home recently to "live her own life," according to her parents. She was found dying in a rooming house on Sunday. She left a note which police said was addressed to Harold Carpenter, a piano salesman, which said:

"You might know I couldn't stand to let the things you do hurt and disappoint me any longer. I still love you. Hal, but please don't ever do to another girl what you have done to me."

GERMANY IS INTERESTED IN LEVIATHAN

BERLIN—Pictures of the Leviathan are displayed prominently in the show windows of tourist agencies in Berlin and other German cities, and there has been much display advertising in the newspapers concerning the recently equipped giant which is sailing under the American flag.

But German newspapers have commented with some bitterness on the fact that the publicity campaign makes no mention of the fact that the Leviathan was formerly the German-built Vaterland.

Little Dorrit's Church

"Little Dorrit's Church," the old parish church of St. George the Martyr, Southwark, has reached the 500th anniversary of its foundation. The chief modern interest in the church is its association with Dickens who went there as a lad and occasionally visited it in after years. In "Little Dorrit" he made his heroine rest there on the night after the party, when she was too late to return to the Marshalsea Prison. Later in the story "Little Dorrit" was married at the church.

NOT VANCOUVER BUT BUST FOR AUTO RUNAWAYS

OSHKOSH, Wis.—Within twenty minutes after a long distance telephone call had been received by Oshkosh police from A. Linden of Waukegan, the son of the Illinois man, Carl Linden, aged 17, was apprehended. He was in a Ford car belonging to his father and accompanied by two others of about the same age was headed for the harvest fields of the Dakotas. A banner, "Vancouver or bust," on the machine was the means of identification. The boy was taken home by his father Tuesday morning, and his companions were permitted to go their way.

Rose bushes which have been growing for the last 100 years are still to be found in the Van Cortlandt Manor House garden in New York.

There are 2174 different characters in the works of Dickens.

BOTH JAWS CRUSHED MAN STILL CAN TALK

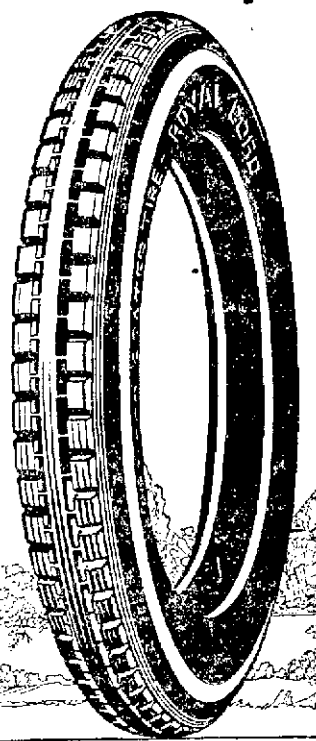

ASHLAND, Wis.—Albert Dugan of Washburn, 42 years old, lives and talks at St. Joseph's hospital after having a heavy dump cart run over his face, fracturing his jaw on both sides and crushing his cheek bone and eye socket. His crushed jaws are bound together to heal, but he is able to take a little liquid nourishment. Dugan was hurt at Ironwood, Mich., while at work for the Scott and Howe Lumber company. He will probably survive, although he will be in the hospital several months.
